SASSI - [V0048] - This interesting detached house is for sale in the village of Sassi, Molazzana. The property of 130 sqm approx consists of: on the ground floor, entrance into a hall/corridor with granite floors which leads onto a utility room. The hall also leads onto a living area with a fireplace and from here a second utility room can be reached. From the living area, a door opens onto a private external area and also from the living area a second corridor leads onto three bedrooms and a small area intended to be a bathroom but which requires installing. From the bathroom area, two double doors open onto a closed veranda which still has the original wooden beams in the ceiling and from here a separate WC can be reached. At the other end of the veranda is a door that opens onto a small triangular balcony. Still on this floor is a kitchen with the original porcelain sink.

In the semi-interred level which can be reached by way of external steps is a small apartment which needs to be restored. The apartment consists of a living/dining area with a fireplace, a kitchen with the original wooden beams in the ceiling, two bedrooms with a double faced dresser in the dividing wall, and a small bathroom.

Outside

Attached to the property is a shed which was once a shop with a wood oven before the second world war. There is also some external space outside the house and the property is for sale with two small plots of land which are each about 50 sqm, quite close to the house and a private parking space.

Suitability

The house could become a lovely holiday home or a family home given the location.
