ABOUT THE AREA

Balchik is a Black Sea coastal town and seaside resort in northeastern Bulgaria. It is located in Dobrich Oblast and is 42 km northeast of Varna. The town sprawls scenically along hilly terraces descending from the Dobruzha plateau to the sea.

The Black Sea coast of Bulgaria is literally dotted with resorts that are brimming with landmarks, pompous parties, and active tourist life. Although the third largest resort in the country is not endowed with such a horn of plenty, it prepares to welcome visitors from all over the world every year. A special charm opens their eyes in the height of summer: the original architecture literally drowns in greenery and a riot of colors of flowers, and the sea water ozonizes the air. Together, this creates a unique atmosphere of relaxation and has a beneficial effect on the health of tourists.

Not a crowded town will do little for gamblers looking for adventure, drive or extravagant monuments. The special charm is found here connoisseurs of nature and a measured life, which expect from the rest of the vacation of a full recovery and unhurried relaxation. In addition, a pleasant bonus would be the rates in the resort in comparison with Bourgas or Nessebar. Balchik is especially popular with family couples, but this does not affect the quality of rest of other visitors. Wealthy tourists will especially enjoy the local yacht club and golf club.

During the inter-war period, Balchik was also a favourite destination for Romanian avant-garde painters, lending his name to an informal school of post-impressionist painters – the Balchik School of Painting – which is central in the development of Romanian 20th century painting. Many works of the artists composing the group depict the town's houses and the exotic Tatar inhabitants, as well as the sea.

Today, the Balchik Palace and the adjacent Balchik Botanical Garden are the town's most popular landmarks. Currently, three 18-hole golf courses are being developed around the town, two designed by Gary Player and one by Ian Woosnam.

At present Balchik is a place where real estate buyers will find bargain property offers of holiday homes, apartments, houses and land for sale and rent.
