About the Area

Murcia is a secret that the Spanish have kept for themselves for a long time, and not many people outside of Spain have heard of it.

A region known for its beautiful coastline, its delicious Mediterranean food, and its fascinating cities, Murcia has been on my bucket list for a while now.

And there are many more reasons why it should be in yours too. Here are a few reasons to visit Murcia.

This region boast over 3,000 hours of sunshine a year, and its coastline is bathed by the warm waters of two seas. In fact, its coast is known as the Costa Calida (the balmy coast), and is home to endless beaches and small coves which offer multiple options for leisure, sports and well-being.

One of the most attractive areas is La Manga del Mar Menor, the ideal destination for relaxing and enjoying the sea and the activities in its marine resort. You'll also find long white sandy beaches such as those of San Pedro del Pinatar; unspoiled coves such as the ones in Cartagena, curious landscapes such as the rock erosions of Mazarron, or fishing towns such as Águilas.
