In this business area, the facilities could be extended, as the Herdade has around 0.5 ha free for this purpose; these facilities could be built in a way that sets them apart in the south of Portugal, i.e. with the addition of 10 more bungalows in the shape of wine barrels, with a swimming pool and dining area - a totally different type of AgroTourism from that found in the south of the country, and one that could attract customers of a high economic level.

As for wine production, it's around 450,000 kgs of grapes at Herdade das Castas Nobres, with an average of over 16,000 kgs ha.

- Aragonês grape variety: Covers approximately 14 hectares and is crucial for making the region's characteristic wines
- Alicante Bouschet grape variety: Cultivated on 13 hectares, it has found an ideal environment in the Alentejo, resulting in wines of excellent quality.
- Castelão grape variety: grown on 5 hectares, this variety enriches the wine blends, guaranteeing stable production.

Six artesian wells and a large pond ensure total irrigation of the vineyard. In addition, the property has a water reservoir and access to the public network to supply the homes.

Discover the true beauty of nature on this stunning property. Visit this estate in the Alentejo, where luxury and serenity come together harmoniously. - REF: CS003
