Priced at just USD$395,000.00, Casa La Garita de Tamarindo is a brand-new home. It is nestled in a roomy 8,000 square feet lot, fully enclosed by a metal fence and thorny hedge planted around it to create a beautiful green walled perimeter. It has an electric gate and parking for over four vehicles. With its three-bedroom, two-and-a-half-bath single-level floorplan, the house included pleasant outdoor living areas, terraces in front of the bedrooms, a deck around the pool, and yet around half of the lot still lays as the backyard.

The architecture and building technique are also a highlight of this house. It comprises an elevated structure sitting on stilts above the ground level with treated wood and thermal insulation elements within the roof to assure optimal thermal comfort. Nothing is more efficient regarding the management of heat, which can be overwhelming in the dry season, and humidity, which could be very high in the rainy season in the dry forest in the province of Guanacaste. And yet the house is equipped with four highly efficient mini-split Air Conditioners and a no-brainer

The solution for hot days is a plunge pool with a comfy deck around it!

This house is ideal for a 5-member family living permanently. It would yield very well with long-term or short-term rentals as well if it is considered an investment. Do not hesitate to request
