To visit Portimão is to get to know a wide variety of beaches with different characteristics and available to enjoy at any time of the year.

Be amazed by the wide sands of Alvor Beach; with the most hidden small coves, cliffs and caves along the coast; with rocky beaches such as Praia do Alemão, with the animation of the most family-friendly beaches or with the unique beauty of Praia da Rocha.

In Portimão the sun shines brightly about 300 days a year on the eight kilometres of the most beautiful and welcoming beaches in the Algarve: fine white sands, transparent, calm and refreshing waters that stretch between the Ria de Alvor to the west and the Arade estuary to the east.

Portimão is a municipality and a city in the Algarve District, Portugal. The city centre is situated about 2 km from the sea and is an important centre for fishing and tourism.

It is the seat of a municipality with an area of 182.06 km² and 55,614 inhabitants (2011), subdivided into 3 parishes, including Portimão, which includes the city, which has about 40,000 inhabitants.

The municipality is bordered to the north by Monchique, to the east by Silves and Lagoa, and to the west by Lagos; to the south, it has a coastal sector along the Atlantic Ocean.
