Mexilhoeira Grande is a portuguese village and parish in the municipality of Portimão, with an area of 88.41 km² and 4,029 inhabitants (2011). Its population density is 45.6 inhabitants km².

It borders the following parishes: Monchique (N), Portimão (E), Alvor (S), Odiáxere (O), Bensafrim (O) and Marmeleite (NO).

Located north of Portimão, Mexilhoeira Grande, a rural land with white floors, trodden by alleys, has in traditional handicrafts and agriculture the main activities of its people.

It is also in this parish that the International Racetrack of the Algarve is located. It is located in a field area, about 6 km north of the center of the parish. Access is from a variant of the EN125. It is served by a station on the Algarve Line.

Mexilhoeira Grande is a very old village, whose origin may return to the extension of the neolithic and Chalcolithic villages of Monte Canelas and Alcalar."

The institution of the parish seems to reassemble the sixteenth century, when the current mother church was built. By 1446, it should already be a village of some importance because, according to the chronicler Gomes de Zurara, Infante D. Henrique was here on this date.
